

Meeting Agrees Necessary to Provide Supervision at Skating Rink

Return A. Baldwin
As President for Year

Supervision of the Strathmore skating rink was agreed on at the annual meeting of the Community Council held Tuesday evening in the Memorial Room of the United Church, when the matter was discussed for a short time by the fairly representative group present. Last year's officers were returned completely, and committees were announced at the meeting. Plans were also made to direct a fairly intensive campaign for funds, with which to operate the program of the Council throughout the year.

The meeting opened with a showing of a National Film Board series film, "Fitness is a Family Affair," which was appreciated by the entire group. R. J. Milligan commented on several features of this film.

With Mr. Keith A. Baldwin in the chair, and Mrs. J. Kennedy as secretary, reports were received from many committees in the last year's work. In the absence of Miss Jean Garrett, G. E. Quirin read the treasurer's report, showing the receipts of the Council for last year amounting to $1646.42. Following an outline of the financial position of the 16 mm projector, it was agreed to send a delegation to the Wheatland School Board, asking them to wind up the account. It was pointed out that $225 has been paid through the Community Council leaving a balance of slightly over $100. The school board has purchased outright projectors in other centres, and it was felt that this machine is used just as much for school purposes as is any other.

The President's Report was read by Mr. Baldwin, outlining his conception of the field and scope of a Community Council. R. J. Milligan presented a report on the swimming pool operation for the year, and the discussion following criticism was expressed in several places for the lack of support given this feature by parents, not arranged, that more of their children use the facilities.

Mr. Doug Brook was appointed to head up a committee to work for the Cadet Corps, in conjunction with the school board.

Gleichen United Church Board Meets

The official Board of the United Church met in the Gleichen Manse Monday evening Nov. 22 with the Rev. A. D. Pringle presiding. The secretary's duties were in charge of Mrs. R. A. Wilson.

Representatives from Arrowwood were: Mrs. S. J. Hayes, Mrs. L. H. Phillips, B. W. Ingham and W. E. Cochran; from Cluny, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beattie, W. L. Gordian and F. Fairbairn; from Glenora, Mrs. R. W. Brown, Mrs. R. S. McQueen and Mrs. R. A. Wilson; from Bolinger, Mr. W. Bollinger and E. Taylor.

It was decided to appoint a representative for the "Observer" at each point on the pastoral charge. Use of the duplex envelope for general use throughout the field was arranged for. Increased property insurance and the M. & M. Fund and Pension Fund were dealt with.

The feeling was expressed by the Board members that the existence of the church was valued for funerals and special occasions but they deplored the lack of regular attendance at services by many members and adherents.

Quarterly Board meetings were agreed on for the future.

with the Reserve Army, in trying to secure facilities in town for the use of both units. The committee, it was suggested, might take in more scope, Charnley, and it is hoped action in the near future may provide some success.

ring of the public address system and the projector were presented by J. A. Crellin. A report on the handicraft committee, prepared by Mrs. H. C. Wilson, was read by Mrs. J. Kennedy, showing that activity of the group had closed owing to inability to find a satisfactory meeting place with sewing machines accessible. Mrs. Kennedy then mentioned the music committee, which had felt the effort put forth a year ago warranted their taking a rest for a term.

Mr. Crellin then presented a report on the skating rink operation, showing that a considerable part of last year's expenditure had been on a long-term basis, and suggesting that expenses this year would not likely be nearly so heavy. The necessity of building a high wall fence around the skating rink was also stated, had been a major item in expense.

Tennis was reported on by Dr. J. Giffen.

The nomination committee, consisting of G. E. Quirin, S. H. Crowther, and R. J. Milligan, presented their report, which was accepted throughout. Officers for the year are: president, K. A. Baldwin; vice-president, D. McMurray; secretary, Mrs. J. Kennedy; treasurer, Miss Jean Garrett; executive: S. H. Crowther, R. J. Milligan, and Rev. D. A. Ford, immediate past president, T. S. Hughes.

Committees were appointed by the president as follows: (chairman in each instance only): swimming pool, Chas. Harvey; reserve army, W. I. MacKenzie; tennis, Dr. J. Giffen; skating, J. A. Crellin; finance, J. Harwood; P.A. and projector systems, Bert Donovan; dramatics, Rev. A. Hamilton; handicraft, Mrs. Harley White; dance, Rev. D. A. Ford; music, Mrs. T. S. Hughes, and press, Mrs. A. M. Moore.

Arrangements were made at the close of the meeting for the skating and finance committee to hold a meeting as soon as is possible to carry out the necessary business of engaging a caretaker and starting winter operations.

Curling Rink Ready In Strathmore Soon

All is in readiness to start the season at the Strathmore Curling Rink. Ventilators have been installed along the roof peak, the ground has been leveled up, and a start made on flooding. The ice can now be made ready in two or three days whenever it turns cold enough to freeze.

He mentioned the many existing problems such as those between Capital and Labor, International Problems etc. and remarked that radio, radio, radar and the atom are important discoveries, but also to be stressed are fine character, sound education and good health.

Speaking of the farming community, the speaker stated that a farmer today must needs be a Stunning up, Dr. Buchanan gave as the five reasons for increased costs of Education: 1. Increase in School Population. 2. Pupils remaining in School longer. 3. More teachers are required to meet increased number of pupils. 4. Shortage of teachers. 5. Increased cost of building (A school room that once cost $10,000 now costs around $25,000).

Coffee and sandwiches were served as the five hour social hour enjoyed following the meeting.

Scholarships Awarded At Home and School Meeting

Excellent Address by Dr. Buchanan Interests Large Group of Parents

The Dining Room of the Memorial Hall was filled to capacity Monday evening when the Home and School Association held its November meeting, with Mrs. J. Kennedy in the chair. Visitors were present from Standard, Beiseker, Carleton Place, and other nearby centres.

Thirty new members were enrolled at the meeting. Mr. Monroe Macleod presented the President with a handsome Gavel—the work of Arne Gronberg a pupil in the Strathmore High School. He then installed the officers of the New Executive.

Mrs. Kennedy then called on Rev. Ford who in a few words of congratulation and advice presented the awards to the pupils obtaining highest marks in each Sub-Division of the Wheatland Area in Grade IX examinations.

These pupils were: Victor Thiesen, Namaka; Gwyneth Crawford, Irricana; Raymond Swartzberger, Beiseker; Irene Jones, Standard; Matilda Baerg of Acme who was unable to attend. Each very gratefully expressed his thanks to the teachers and the H. & S. Assn. Jim Bazant was the recipient of a fine Pen and Pencil Set for having obtained honors in every subject in his Grade IX exam.

Dr. Buchanan, Superintendent of Schools in Calgary and Guest Speaker, was introduced by Mr. Crowther.

Dr. Buchanan in a very able address frequently punctuated with bits of humor, talked on Education and the Financial Outlook.

Speaking from first hand knowledge, Dr. Buchanan stated there is to-day a growing interest in education, communities more readily support equipment, and larger grants are given by the Provincial Government.

Changing Programmes in Schools are making greater demands on teachers. Dr. Buchanan humorously but pointedly stated he was preparing the tax payer for increased taxes in his budget as these must of necessity ensue.

Expansion of Education necessitates increased costs. Pupils remain in school longer these days, he declared. In former years many dropped out at Grade 9 whereas now they continue to Grade 11 and 12. In former years 5 percent remained to Grade 12. Now 40 percent remain.

The speaker stressed the increased cost caused by this technical and mechanical age in which we competing in wheat events. At the Toronto Royal the pair came third for the Dominion, with Miller taking high place individually. R. J. Milligan, district agriculturist, was their coach.

SIGNS OF IMPROVING

Progress is in the air these days, and looking around at our own town, we seem to see signs of improvement here also. Granted, there hasn't been any mushroom of growth, but little by little, we think, things are building up.

Indicative of this spirit is the big interest being shown in water and sewer installation, always a big step forward. And while there have been numerous lengthy delays, we still doubt if the prospect is so doubtful as some people seem to believe it is.

Strathmore's Main Street also reflects increased activity, as wider varieties of stock and merchandise keep being displayed, and larger stocks reflect increased ability to serve the public. Through the residential areas, little additions here, major improvements there, also show that people are interested in the town. Probably a coat of paint does more for any building than any other feature of repair, but many homes are also being improved through more attention to the landscaping, and improving of the garden surrounding.

Interest in the community groups seems also to be on the increase and this year's winter program is expected to be one of the more heavily patronized seasons in recent years.

All small signs, assuredly, but it takes only a small snowball to start a big one, and big ones grow pretty quickly.

ROADS

Notwithstanding our feeling in the paragraphs above, further improvement may always be made, and at least one avenue where improvement is needed is in the town's roads. There can be no doubt that they are getting progressively rougher, and many comments have been passed in the past few weeks, both by townspeople and by visitors to the town.

We wonder if it might not be possible to do a little work on them before the snow flies, so that they won't be worse till when the water starts to run. After all, the first impression a visitor gets of a town is from its roads, and certainly we can't be happy with the impression visitors must get from the roads in Strathmore.

It may be that it's too late in the season, but we think something might be done, especially since other construction work seems to go right ahead.

WONDERFUL WEATHER

So far as we know, the only man in town with a right to kick these days is the coal dealer, and even he wasn't very worried when we talked to him today. Seems he's still able to keep busy, and is afraid of a shortage later on.

But one old-timer we chatted with recently thought the only winter to touch it was "way back in '10, when it was mild right into December." "Course he had to admit that even that winter was marred with a bad storm as early as September, but that it passed away very quickly.

Probably the big wind storm on Wednesday night worried a lot of people, but it seems to have left nothing in its wake but a lot of dust in the wrong places, and so forth. It can keep right on being fine this way, we suppose, so long as the spring isn't like last year's. Most people would rather trade for a winter in the winter season.

RAFFLE PROMOTES VOTING

We like the little item we ran onto recently concerning the Kelowna bye-election last week.....where the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored a fifty dollar draw open to electors who went to the polls.

Less than a hundred years ago, men were bitterly fighting for the right of every man to express his opinion through the ballot box, and today it means so little that an added attraction has to be thrown in. Like the theatres, we may soon have to add a "china night" or "silverware night".

SADIE HAWKINS NITE TESTS TEENERS FEMININE WILES

High River Times

Last Friday night, Teen-Towners took a turnabout with a "Sadie Hawkins" race and dance being the entertainment. At about 8 p.m., a large number of Teeners gathered at the town hall to stage High River's Sadie Hawkins' race. The custom of having a Sadie Hawkins race each year originated in Deep patch, but has become popular all over the North American continent. The boys were given a five second start, then the girls took up the chase. The race was centred around the skating rink block, with the girls dragging the boys down from telephone poles, out of trees, off the roof, or wherever else they could find the boys. Marilyn Sam was in attendance, with the cheap mizable 30¢ chicken ring wedding being the rule. There were a few disappointments and mix-ups which were settled later in the evening, when divorces were freely offered at the very reasonable sum of 25¢ each, a boon to Teen Town's treasury, as well as to those poor "Lil' Abner's" who were caught by the wrong "Daisy Mae."

A large crowd attended the John Deere pictures Tuesday evening Nov. 24 at Meadowbrook Hall. Door prize was won by Wm. Cook and a box of chocolates went to Mrs. E. Ferguson.

However, all of the 117,000 farm returns filed before April 30th have been checked, and of this total only 40,000, or about 34 per cent, were found to have taxable incomes.

SEAL RECEIPTS GOOD

Christmas Seal receipts totalled $950.00 for Calgary and district, according to E.G. Beading, Chairman of the Kinmen Club Christmas Seal Committee, at the end of the second week of the campaign. This is slightly higher than at the same time last year, but $17,000.00 is needed to achieve this year's quota of $28,000 for Calgary and district.

Pig and a Poke

Here's a problem almost every farmer has met at some time or the other—how to get a stubborn hog in a truck.

And here is a possible solution, as told by a farm trade agent for Imperial Oil Limited who said he heard it from an enterprising farmer.

Back a truck up to the pig pen, and put a ramp from the ground to the rear of the truck.

Next, cover the hog's head with a bushel basket.

The hog is not supposed to like this and will start backing up to get his head out of the basket. As he backs up, steer him onto the ramp and into the truck.

In case the hog happens to be a big sow and decides to charge full steam ahead into the basket, it might be a good idea to have another ramp for yourself.

FARMERS AND INCOME TAX

In Others' Words

A PROPER TRIBUTE

(Red Deer Advocate)

The Agricultural Institute of Canada did an excellent thing the other day when it presented a certificate of honorary membership to Harold G. Long, general manager of the Lethbridge Herald. Mr. Long was elected an honorary member at the national convention held in Guelph in June, and the presentation last week was made by Dean R.D. Sinclair, of the University of Alberta, who is the national president.

A fair question would be: "Why did the agriculturists honor a newspaperman?" Here is the answer. There are few men in the history of this province who've done more to further the cause of scientific farming in his district than Harold Long. For nearly forty years he has been working through his newspaper to improve farming and living conditions throughout the southern part of this province, and with some success. Strip farming, irrigation, crop rotation, grasshoppers, better soil, and all other things that the other angles of farming there have been his constant study, and his excellent reporting and his helpful advice in his columns and out of his newspaper have played an essential part in the growth and development of his district.

Newspapers have many other functions beyond the reporting of events, and the expression of opinions, and this recognition of the great value of the services rendered to his country by one first class newspaperman will be welcomed by his colleagues and friends throughout Canada.

OLD TEACHERS vs. NEW SYSTEM

(from Stettler Independent)

I do not doubt that we still have teaching enthusiasts in our schools. There are still teachers who would rather parse than eat, though parsing has gone out of fashion. There are still teachers who will suffer from the split infinitive as you or I suffer from flu. There are teachers who teach literature as though good words were the most important possession in the world.

Let the Department of Education juggle the curriculum as much as it is inclined, but it makes no difference to the best teachers whom we have always with us. In the atmosphere of learning which they create it does not matter much what subjects are taught. They can rouse the enthusiasm of their pupils even in a geometry, trigonometry or book keeping. They can make penmanship or spelling interesting.

For a few days recently two professors of the UBC found themselves the centre of a "tempest-in-a-teapot" when a roving camera man caught the pair in the act of performing—in a clumsy fashion—a few dance steps with a young professional entertainer in a Vancouver nightclub.

The picture, without the caption, was merely two clean-cut men enjoying a few minutes of relaxation. The scene was probably duplicated a thousand times across Canada that evening, but a lot of attention being drawn to any participants other than the professors.

However as usual, since members of the teaching profession were involved, the average Canadian threw his hands in the air and muttered "such unseemly things going on!"

Yet they must feel as time goes on and the curriculum becomes overloaded with a multiplicity of subjects, that one day in the courts of old-time pedagogy is better than a thousand years under the New System.

The New System has something of course to recommend it, but in Alberta we never go half way. In education, as in politics, we go the whole hog. We are not clinging to the good things of the past but we abolish what we have gained in the past and start from scratch.

It is abolishing the fetish of discipline in the schools, we abolish discipline altogether and leave it to the children to follow the road of their own choice. We abolish supervision. No wonder the best teachers want to turn back and base their teaching on the well tried, well tested and well drilled methods of their youth.

CODE OF CONDUCT DISTORTED

despite the fact that all was soon clean fun with no intention of being offensive.

Unfortunately, there seems to be two codes of rules for conduct—one for ourselves and another for those engaged in some of the professions. These two sets of rules in past years on a smaller scale have worked hardships on young teachers in isolated sections of the country, where sometimes the mere sign of being human has been cause for harassment and trouble.

Obviously, if some of the critics of the two professors had stopped to consider some of their antics in public the whole matter would have passed over without any adverse statements or unpleasant words.

OBEYING ORDERS

(From Printed Word)

Climbing Parliament Hill during a steady downpour of rain, a press gallery correspondent saw a sight that seemed incredible. A man, who had been seen in a huge slicker, was waiting the lawn.

First glancing at the Peace Tower, to make sure he was truly in Ottawa, the reporter strode in towards the busy gardener, who turned out to be a man on the payroll of the department of public works.

"What's the sense of this?" he asked.

The gardener shrugged his shoulders.

"I've got orders to wear the lawn on Thursdays," he answered.

HOW MANY ALBERTANS KNOW?

Within the next two weeks the Students' Council will take a step that has been contemplated but never taken by any previous Council.

It will appoint a public relations committee.

The purpose of the committee will be to acquaint the people of Alberta more fully with the activities of their University.

How many people in the province know that students at this University have about 100 hours apart from their studies in cultural activities—that we have a mixed chorus (the largest of its kind in the Dominion), a symphony, a ballet, a hyperactive drama group, our own newspaper, a yearbook which is a $38,000 a year project, and dozens of other organizations?

How many Albertans know that we have one of the best soil laboratories in the world?

Do they know that our soils lab last year completed a terrific research project on the testing of airport runways in the West for the Dominion and the Transport?

Do they know that research done by the soils department can save them millions of dollars in improving the roads about which there is always so much dissatisfaction?

President Robert Newton in his research days developed a new and valuable soil "Newal" (from "Newton" and "Alberta").

How many Albertans know?

For to many years, the rest of the province has been so fully of initiations and snake dances, only sketched of such camp organizations (the Chorus and Drama Club, a hyperactive drama group, our own newspaper, a yearbook which is a $38,000 a year project, and dozens of other organizations?)

After all, the people of Alberta pay about half of the tuition fees of University students. They have a right to know on what kind of institutions and on what kind of people they are spending their money.

BY MRS. F. D.

The Odd Fellows held their regular meeting Wednesday with eight members present. Plans were made for a Shingling Bee. We see work has started. Soon the Hall will have the "New Look".

Mr. Grover Compton was injured while working at the Oil Well Wednesday night. He suffered shock, bruises and a broken wrist. Mrs. Scott was called and after rendering first aid she took Mr. Compton to General Hospital where a cast was put on. He was released from Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Scott, having gotten her car home from the repair shop, left for a week-end trip.

We see Mr. Kenneth Smart is the proud owner of a nice new Motor cycle.

Cars from far and near were at the early morning fire Sunday about 1:30 a.m. Sparks of a passing train started the blaze on the farm of Mr. K. Moe, east of town in a patch of grass. No great damage was done. The flu bug is busy again nipping here and there.

Mr. Charles Tookie left for the North again. Mrs. Tookie and children will remain with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Nicholson till after Christmas.

The Frank Thomas family have moved into town.

Let's not forget the Ladies Aid supper and bazaar Dec. 4th in W.I. Hall.

Some of the adults are out getting ready to make use of the rink when ready but are now skating on the pond back of Smart's store.

Mr. A. Watson reports his brother-in-law Mr. Gray and niece are steadily improving.

Monday evening eight tables of "500" were at play. High scores going to Mr. and Mrs. A. Heckle. Lays to Mrs. E. Albertson and Mr. J. Nicholson.

Plans are complete for the corned beef and cabbage supper sponsored by the Langdon Sports Club to be held in Langdon Hall Saturday, November 29th. A moving picture follows the supper.

After visiting his parents and friends at the west coast, Mr. and Mrs. John Prander are home again.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winters are spending a few days south of the border. Mr. and Mrs. John Vinjle are taking care of the Shop.

CHRISTMAS CAKES

A few hints on Christmas cakes, not usually included in directions given in recipes, are offered by Mrs. Vera MacDonald, Supervisor of the Home Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. When preparing the fruit for your Christmas cake be careful to dry the raisins well on a towel after washing them. Adding wet fruit will result in a soggy cake. On the other hand, if your fruit pool is very dry and stiff, steam it in a strainer placed over boiling water. Sprinkle the fruit lightly with flour so that it will not sink in the cake.

Choose your cake pan carefully—a deep square pan is preferable. We have found thick cardboard boxes cut and folded into suitable sizes make excellent containers for baking fruit cakes, since the cakes are not as apt to burn. Line tin cake pans with two or three layers of greased heavy brown paper to help prevent burning.

Mrs. MacDonald says that more good fruit cakes are spoiled by improper baking procedure than in any other way. Place the cake carefully in the oven for evenness of baking, not too low nor too high. Keep the temperature down between 275 to 300 degrees F. During the last part of baking, cover the tops with brown paper to avoid over-browning. Some prefer a moist fruit cake which is steamed for 7 hours, then baked in the oven. A pan of water placed in the oven during the baking will also help. The time required for baking will depend on the size and depth of the cake, so watch carefully to avoid overbaking and drying out the cake.

To not ice or decorate your fruit cake until shortly before it is ready to eat. Icing and crystalline fruits do not improve during storage.

FORTUNES IN TEA LEAVES

When the tea leaves are bunched together in the cup you might expect good fortune. If they are scattered, the effect will be the reverse.

If the leaves take the shape of sticks, these stand for people. If the sticks are crossed, look for enemies; if straight up, you will make friends.

Sticks with a gathering of grounds mean bad news, and a long line or grounds, if unbroken, foretells a journey which you must make by water.

Three dots in a row near the top of the cup stand for a wish which will soon be realized.

If one dot is seen near the top of the cup, a letter is coming, or if a large dot, a letter which will contain a photograph.

A large ring of grounds, indicates an offer of marriage to an unmarried person. If married, coming good fortune.

Fairplay Notes

Mrs. Sally Dain spent a few days in Calgary last week visiting her son Frank and family.

Mr. Carl Anderson is enjoying a holiday in Illinois renewing acquaintances with friends and relatives. He reports, however, that growing ninety five bushels of corn sells for four hundred and ten dollars per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Peterson had as their week-end guests the latter's sister and family from Calgary.

Miss Florence Lowe of Calgary, Richard Lowe and Miss Marjorie Henkle of Rockyford, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. Lowe on Sunday.

Residents of Fairplay, along with many others responded well to a call at 5 o'clock Sunday morning to fight a grass fire, along the track. Luckily it did not reach either dwellings nor feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dumbleton and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Brander.

Mrs. W. D. Braden has been receiving some medical attention in Calgary and Banff for a couple of weeks.

Several from the district spent an enjoyable evening last week, the guests of the Cheadec Community Club, at a party for Mr. and Mrs. Garlick.

Mr. and Mrs. Laie Chartew, Darryl and Dawn of Calgary were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albertson.

Glad to report that Mrs. Fraser is improving slowly from her recent operation.

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

by PAT O'HOOLEY

This is PAT O'HOOLEY

A friend was discussing her servant problems, particularly those of the cook, with Edna Hughes. Suddenly she burst into laughter, and said:

"The last one, Mabel, was a good-hearted soul, but not really a cook. We tried to be patient, but we just couldn't take it. Even young Jimmy was affected."

"He was saying his prayers one night, and when he got to the part, 'Give us each day our daily bread,' he paused, and rather quietly said, 'But dear God, please don't let Mabel bake it.'"

Helen Ferguson to Ray: "You'd better get up and go see why the baby's not crying."

While visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Patteson were quite shocked to hear their son Brian talking in a bold and off-the-record manner to his playmates.

"When he came into the house, his mother said: 'Brian, a little bird told me you were saying naughty words.'"

With a slight frown, Brian pondered this remark a minute. Then he looked up brightly and said: "I bet it was that damn sparrow."

Ted Slater: "My wife doesn't understand me. Does yours?"

Bill Slater: "Don't know that I ever heard her mention your name."

Rockyford Notes

Rockyford Council No. 3004 of the Knights of Columbus conducted on Sunday, Nov. 28 a Memorial Service for their departed brother Joseph Koester.

About 60 Knights assembled on this warm and beautiful Autumn Sunday to pay their last respects in a solemn and impressive ceremony in memory of their late brother.

Stan Winters: "What advantages do pyjamas have over an old-fashioned nightgown?"

Doug MacKenzie: "Don't know. I've never worn pyjamas over an old-fashioned nightgown."

They say that Bill Woodliffe got so wrapped up in the World Series that every time his wife called 'Soup's on' he'd come sliding into the plate.

Then, of course, there is the time when George Risdon was so impressed with the convenience of living in the city that he was heard to make the following phone call: "Is that the beauty shop? Well, send one over to Room 116, Royal Hotel."

In Franklin, Pa., the police chief's report for 1947 listed: "Automobiles stolen, 23; automobiles recovered, 25."

Mr. Isacco: "Son, I have decided to insure your life."

So: (Cautiously): "Fadder, vy must I burn?"

Evelyn Risdon: "I wonder what boys talk about when they're alone?"

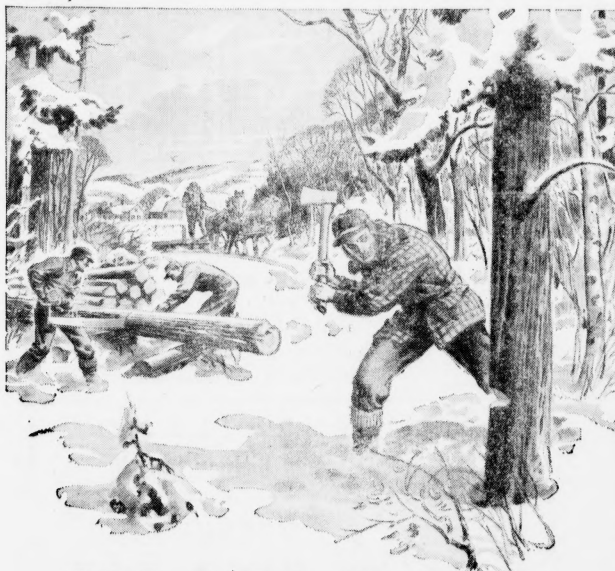

Queen Isarda: "Probably the same thing we do."

Evelyn: "Oh, aren't they awful?"

George Lockie: "All a pickpocket could get from me is practice."

An old farmer walked into the office of banker Les Maggs recently to pay off a mortgage. When Maggs congratulated him for liquidating his debt, the farmer replied: "I'm paying off all my debts. They're the only thing I can buy now, and get my money's worth."

Some kids discovered a new island in the irrigation ditch, but it turned out it was just a divot looked out of the golf course by Bert Donovan one day when he was in the temper.

EFFECT OF GRASSES AND LEGUMES ON SUBSEQUENT GRAIN CROPS

(Experimental Farm News)
Since 1946 the effect of grasses and legumes on succeeding crops of wheat has been tested on light textured soil at the Dominion Reclamation Station, Melita, Man., says G. S. Gugin.

The grasses and legumes used on the test included alfalfa, sweet clover, slender wheat grass, crested wheat grass and bromegrass. The plots were seeded in 1946 and 1947. Each year 100 lb. of grain and legume plots were seeded. These plots remained down three years during which time they were cut for hay. They were then reseeded and summerfallowed in the next two years.

A comparison was made of yields of wheat, together with strength of straw, height, days to mature and bushel weight of the grain.

Five years' results have shown that wheat following alfalfa has given the greatest yield at 21.4 bushels per acre. Wheat after sweet clover yielded 21.2 bushels, after slender wheat grass 19.8 bushels, and that following crested wheat grass 17.8 bushels per acre. The wheat following bromegrass has given the lowest yield — 17.1 bushels per acre on the five-year average.

Only four years' results are available with the second crop wheat. Here again the wheat following alfalfa has yielded highest with 14.8 bushels per acre, wheat following sweet clover 11.8 bushels, and following bromegrass averaged lowest at 8.4 bushels per acre. There are no figures for second crop wheat following slender wheat grass.

Since sweet clover is a biennial, those plots seeded to sweet clover were lying idle for one year prior to breaking. This management would probably affect the yields of these plots to some extent.

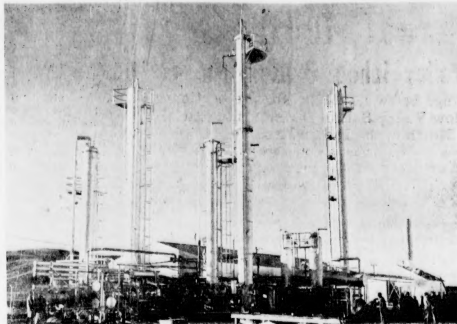

There has been very little difference in days to maturity of the wheat in the various plots. The wheat following alfalfa and sweet clover, generally being a somewhat heavier stand, was a day or so later in maturity in some seasons, also somewhat taller and with slightly weaker straw. There was no significant difference in weight per bushel data.

ANNUITANTS LIVE LONGER

People who own annuities or have converted their life insurance into lifetime income make up the healthiest and longest-lived group of people served by the life insurance business, according to the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association. Of age 65, actuaries estimate men owning annuities can expect to live 15 years on the average and women 18 years. Men as a whole at the age of 65 can expect to live nearly 13 years on the average, and women about 14 years.

It is not just the guaranteed income and peace of mind which makes annuitants live longer, say the actuaries. People who buy annuities are likely to be healthy and vigorous to begin with. If they weren't they wouldn't ordinarily be interested in buying an annuity. They usually have every expectation of leading long and healthy lives. The number of such people has been growing yearly; at the end of 1947, upwards of 400,000 in individual annuity contracts were owned by Canadians — most of whom are persons of modest means.

Classified advertising results are the rule, not the exception. They cannot be guaranteed — but they are usually forthcoming.

WESTERN PROPANE'S TURNER VALLEY PLANT ...

Alberta's newest industry, and Canada's first plant constructed for the sole purpose of manufacturing liquefied petroleum gases on a commercial scale, went into operation at Turner Valley, October 27.

Western Propane Ltd. of Calgary, constructed the half-million-dollar plant, reported to be the only one of its kind on the continent. It will utilize much of the waste gases from Turner Valley and make it possible for many rural centres and farms to enjoy the conveniences of gas for domestic use.

Source of supply of propane is directly connected with the production and refining of oil. Alberta's fastest growing industry. Waste gases from the refining processes are composed largely of propane, ethane and methane. Prior to opening of the new industry, the first two were extracted from the gas at the Royaltie absorption plant near Black Diamond and "flared" or burned off as they were not suitable for use in ordinary natural gas. The methane was pumped into the Calgary gas company's distribution system.

Now most of the propane which formerly was wasted is liquefied. This makes it suitable for engineering, manufactured gas and as domestic fuel in localities having no access to a natural gas supply.

Equipment Manufactured
Due to difficulty in obtaining the large amount of steel necessary, the plant required a year to construct. Barber Engineering and Supply Co. Ltd., Calgary, and the Girdler Corp. of Louisville, Kentucky, manufactured the complicated equipment required in production of liquid propane gas. Newell Bros., general contractors of Calgary, and a crew of 30 specially trained men handled the assembly and erection details.

At the new plant propane and ethane are extracted from the waste gas by a highly technical process involving temperature changes, fractionating and compression. The propane, in liquid form then is pumped into a battery of storage tanks. Each of the three tanks in the battery is approximately 60 feet long and nine feet in diameter. Constructed of inch-thick, welded steel they have a total capacity of 74,700 imperial gallons and easily handle 3½ days production from the plant which has a maximum daily output of 21,000 gallons.

Transportation of the LP-gas (liquid propane) to distributing points is carried out by two large tank trucks. Differing from conventional gas transportation trucks in that each trailer is equipped with twin, high pressure tanks, these units carry approximately 2,500 imperial gallons. The tanks were manufactured and fitted to the trucks in Calgary.

Plan Extensions

Ethane separated from the propane is now being flared but plans to utilize this gas are being made. When these materialize, the ethane will be manufactured into ethylene oxide from which one of the best forms of antifreeze, ethylene glycol is made. At present there are only two companies in North America which turn out this product in large quantities and the proposed addition to the new propane plant will be the first Canadian producer.

The late Dr. E. H. Boomer, for many years professor of physical and chemical engineering at the University of Alberta, and G. M. Blackstock, K.C., of Edmonton, were largely responsible for conceiving and promoting full utilization of the formerly wasted gases. Dr. Adrien Cambion, assistant director of the chemistry division, National Research Council, is credited with the process and particular design used in the new LP-gas refinery. These two men urged James E. Barber, president of Western Propane Ltd., to undertake construction of the costly plant.

The new plant was financed largely by the Alberta Industrial Corporation and the Barber interests. So far it is the major completed project financed through the industrial corporation which was organized to assist new industries in Alberta.

Wholesale Products

Western Propane Ltd. produces for the wholesale trade and markets for its output appear unlimited. Canadian cities already are using the LP-gas to increase the heat content of manufacture. The Province's chief distributor in the retail domestic field provides an ever-increasing outlet. Offers have been received from American concerns to take the total output but directors of the organization believe that the Canadian market, and particularly Alberta's demands, should be satisfied before any exporting is undertaken.

"Old at 40, 50, 60?"

— Man, You're Crazy

Forget your age! "Canadians are happy at 20, 40, 60, 80, 100." This is the message of the new "Old at 40, 50, 60?" campaign. It's a new way of looking at life. Try it. Enter the "Old at 40, 50, 60?" contest. See how you feel. You'll be surprised at the results. For full details and all drug stores everywhere.

Another strange fact is that an alcoholic, once he quits drinking, can't take even a single drink safely. Cases are known where recovered alcoholics, sincerely wanting to stay sober, started on sprees after taking rough medicine that contained alcohol.

Horns must go - the modern way

The tools used for dehorning — clippers, scoops, burning irons, and knives — are a frightening assortment of ironmongery, and an animal is truly dumb if he doesn't hitchtail it to the other end of the pasture at the approach of grim-faced men carrying them.

Now a new dehorning method has been developed in the laboratory, which, says THE FARM QUARTERLY, makes it easier for even an amateur to do a better job.

The new method uses a caustic in a colloid solution. This escharotic solution, the name for it is composed of antimony trichloride, salicylic acid, and flexible collodion. The solution is about as simple to use as a finger nail polish.

The best time to do the job is when the calf is 3 to 10 days old. The animal is caught and the horn area of the head is clipped. Then the solution is applied with a small brush to the horn button, an area about the size of a quarter.

In contrast to the old type of caustic, the colloid solution dries in about a minute, forming a flexible film. As soon as it is dry the calf can be dropped off leaving a well-healed area.

In another three weeks hair will be growing over the area; the horns have been completely destroyed.

Thursday, Dec. 2, 1948 — THE

STRAITHMORE STANDARD — 9

WE FORGOT . . .

to mention that the picture used in the story of the propane plant at Turner Valley was loaned us through courtesy of the Department of Economic Affairs, Edmonton. We appreciate their co-operation.

The new solution, "Pol", does away with the old fashioned method of burning with a hot iron or the messy grease-ring caustic method which often leads to injury to the calf's eyes.

Tests on 10 purebred Hereford calves at the Ohio Experiment Station gave excellent results. The calves were treated with the escharotic solution within a week after birth. The hair on the crown of the head was clipped, the fluid was brushed on, and each calf was released immediately, no precautions being taken to prevent it from nursing or to protect it from the rain, which washes ordinary caustic down over the head. In the days that followed, there was no sign of burning of skin or flank tissues on any of the dams.

The herdsmen did not notice any of the calves in great pain, as is often the case after other dehorning operations. One calf ran to its dam and she proceeded to lick the application off without any bad effects. The calf was given another treatment the following day and this time it was not removed by mama. The entire lot of calves turned out to be as free of horns as if they had been born polled.

SMITH—NAIL

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in North Hill United Church, Calgary on Nov. 20 by the Rev. J. Lawrence Pottruff when Lola Marie Nail of Calgary became the bride of Goldwyn J. Smith of Bassano.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a brown gabardine suit with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Ernie Watson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mr. Elton Barlow attended the groom.

During the signing of the register, Miss Gladys Wolf sang "Because".

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Harris Sky Room. The table was decorated with pink and white streamers and centered with a three tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a short honeymoon, touring Alberta. On returning, they will reside near Bassano.

The Carnival recently held at the Community Hall proved very successful. It was sponsored by the Board of Trade and sufficient funds were raised to complete the hall. When this is done, Cluny will have a hall that will compare favorably with any in the district.

We are pleased to know that four car loads of material have been unloaded at Cluny for the new bridge across the Bow. The work is to start at once on the piers.

We are advised that owing to the lateness of the season the pouring of cement for the wall of the new Roman Catholic Church will be left over until next spring.

One of the Cluny Students, Kenneth Gordon, is to be congratulated on winning the Governor General's medal for the highest marks in the division on his grade IX exams.
